

Abstract

A 4-way power splitter/combiner circuit providing a plurality of transmission lines of selected impedance and phase shift to define four amplifier ports into which one to four amplifiers may be populated without reconfiguration of the circuit. The circuit provides acceptable VSWR and return loss under each operating condition.